Let's Talk About

Ray Polany Our Unlikely Warrior

Ray, A Trails Club Member since 1975, may appear to be a sweet, gentle person but he has been a warrior for the right causes most of his 91 years.

Born and raised in Trieste, Italy, the ravages of WW II interrupted Ray's youth; he graduated in 1942 just as the Nazi's were moving into his home city. He was coerced into building bunkers for the German army, but in 1944 he slipped away to join the Yugoslavia resistance movement with other Italians.

For a year he fought with a brigade in a guerrilla war against the Nazis in the Julian Alps. Once, he and a group of men hiked for two days through snow to get fuel without proper clothing or boots. Ray suffered a leg injury that brought his fighting to a close.

Combat, disease and privation claimed a third of his unit. Ray said I still remember the time a farm lady brought us some fresh, warm bread to eat. Italy awarded him a meritorious cross for his effort.

He married his longtime sweetheart, Anna Crismanich in 1951 and two years later they sailed to the U.S. Then he settled in Portland.

In 1961, after years of working behind a desk as a savings and loan officer he began riding the nine miles daily, by bicycle, to work over the Terwilliger Hill. First it was only on dry days. Later he kept riding even when it rained.

It was about this time that he became a warrior for cycling and Mass Transit. He co-chaired the group Citizens for Better Transit and attended monthly City Club meetings for over 40 years. He also helped establish the Association of Oregon Trail and Transit Advocates (AORTA) and still serves as Director.

By 1974, he had climbed all the major peaks of the Cascades, including several ascents of Mount Hood, Mount. Rainer and Mount St. Helens. He was awarded the coveted 16 Peaks Award.

Ray hung up his bicycle in 2006 at the age of 82 but his passion for alternative modes of transportation remains high.

Biannual Washington State Trails Conference

Dear Oregon Trail Enthusiasts,
The biannual Washington State Trails Conference is being held in Bellingham, WA on October 17 & 18th, 2014. As chairman of the local host committee, I have been requested by the board of the Washington State Trails Coalition to extend an invitation to our Oregon neighbor trail enthusiasts to join us this fall at the conference.

While some of the conference sessions are "Washington" specific, the majority of them are of topics that would be of interest to any trail supporter or organization, be they Washingtonians or Oregonians (and as an aside we are also inviting trail folks from British Columbia to join us as well). Additionally, our keynote speakers are of international caliber and will, I believe, appeal to the larger trail community that we all belong to.

In addition to the sessions (both indoors and outdoors) there will be ample opportunity during the conference to network with all the attendees (including a reception Friday night hosted by the Whatcom Parks and Recreation Foundation at the Old Bellingham Museum). And who knows? If enough people from outside of Washington join us we might expand the conference to become a regional trail conference in the future!

Information about the conference can be found below including our web page address and Facebook page address. If you have any questions or would like more information, please feel to contact me.

Thanks and I hope to see you in Bellingham!

Sincerely,

Daniel Tepper, President

Over-snow Vehicle Rule

On Tuesday, September 9, 2014: Hilary Eisenheisen@winterwildlands.org wrote:

Just a quick update on the over-snow vehicle rule. We had expected to see a final rule from the Forest Service today but were notified last week that the Forest Service is seeking an extension, possibly for as late as April 21. Because the OSV rule is the result of Winter Wildlands Alliance litigation the Forest Service had to file a motion for extension of the deadline with the Court and notify us of their action. We are still consulting with our attorney and trying to determine how to respond to this motion. Although an extension is inevitable (since the rule is not finalized and today was the deadline) we would like it to be finalized much earlier than April if at all possible. The Forest Service claims that they need additional time to finish processing the 20,000 comments that they received on the draft rule and because of the amount of time it will take for the rule to go through USDA and Office of Management and Budget approval processes. I'm not sure I believe they need almost 8 more months to do all that. The Forest Service has not posted any additional comments on regulations.gov since I last tallied them and reported the results to you (at which point over 70% of the comments reflecting the talking points WWA developed). I don't know what the remaining 18,000 or so comments say as they have not been posted but I do know that many thousands of form letters were submitted by the Wilderness Society and other larger groups. These comments would also reflect WWA's talking points. I am confident that the conservation and quiet-recreation community got our message across and I look forward to seeing a final rule. I will be sure to keep you updated as we learn more about when the final rule will be published.

Thanks for all of your great work on this issue.
