Wednesday Morning Hike Meeting Places

We are going to experiment with a different way of communicating about Wednesday Morning Hikes. In the past, we have almost always met at Friendly House, or at least we have had someone meet potential hikers at Friendly House. However, in the last several months, we have very often hiked in a different part of town, which everyone seems to enjoy. So from now on, the location of the starting point of the Wednesday Morning hike often will not appear in the Blazer. The Blazer will state that hikers should check the Trails Club website for information about the hike location. Alternatively, anyone interested in receiving a weekly email about the Wednesday Morning Hike location should email Audrey Perino at audrey53@comcast.net and she will add you to the Wednesday Morning Hikers email list. We hope this works for everyone. After several months, we will evaluate this new system to see if it is working.

Conservation Notes

The Conservation Committee studies and acts. Under adopted policy, We limit our action to Mt Hood, the Columbia River Gorge, and Portland's Forest Park. Our action is approved by the Board of Trustees and is executed in the name of the Trails Club of Oregon.
The Trails Club is a member of the Federation of Western Outdoor Clubs, a conservation coalition, which adopts resolutions annually for action by the member clubs. We may take action under this umbrella on a variety of issues. For example, under a resolution opposing the conversion of public lands to private ownership, we might oppose the sale of the Elliott State Forest. Or we could take action against Single Track Bicycling in Forest Park. The 2014 Resolutions

President's Message

Another year is coming to close and the Trails Club is entering our 100th year as an outdoors organization with a lot of important history behind us. Looking back through our archives so many key members have contributed to Trails Club hikes, backpacks, bicycle trips, snow shoe hikes, cross-country ski trips, Summer and Alpine Outings, Kiddy Camp and Family Camp, Senior Outings, Hike and Dine weekends, hosting at both lodges and maintaining both Nesika and Tyee. There was also the multi-year project to replace Nesika Lodge and renovate and upgrade both dorm buildings. We also spent a year upgrading Tyee to meet standards prescribed by the Health Department and the Fire Marshall. I salute all those members that made all this success possible.

We must also recognize those that give of their time and talent to our current operations as well. As a volunteer non-profit organization we still rely on member volunteers to lead the club as a Board member, but also to chair or participate in the many committees required to keep the program functioning. If you review the list of activities above it is easy to determine that this is a multi-faceted club. Our success in the past has been to recognize that each of us has preferences in participating in club activities. Also, with that recognition, we have supported activities other members prefer even if we are not active participants in those activities. It takes members with a variety of personalities and abilities to keep a multi-faceted Trails Club in existence.

We owe thanks to those that have given of their time and talent as Board members and are now taking a breather from that work. Vice President Bill Yandon has served us well and has been a trusted advisor to me when I was the Lodge & Properties Trustee and now as President. Phil Jackson has had one of the most time demanding Trustee positions as Publications Trustee. He has been extremely conscientious about the content and quality of the Blazer. Jeff Lawton as Trips Trustee is about as an enthusiastic hiker and backpacker that I have met.

Jeff introduced us to the Meetup program as a means for planning and announcing activities and meeting potential members. As I mentioned at the Annual Meeting, we have yet to embrace the full potential of this opportunity as a club and we need to keep pursuing our use of that media to the benefit of the club.
Cindy Lee has volunteered to stay on the Board as our Treasurer. She has been doing an excellent job and I am very grateful for her willingness to continue in that capacity. There are many committee chairs and members that should also be recognized and I will try to acknowledge them next month.

I would also like to welcome the new elected officers, Joel Reitz as Vice President, Cindy Lee continuing as Treasurer, Randy Dietrich as Publications Trustee and Ron Silvis as Trips Trustee.I also welcome Phil Crosby as our new Blazer Editor. Please give each of these members your full support as the new year, our 100th year, gets under way.
George Milne—President

Summary of Board Minutes

Trails Club of Oregon
Board of Trustees Meeting
November 4, 2014

The meeting began with an informal planning session for the upcoming annual meeting. The schedule for the meeting was set and individual assignments were settled.

Plans for directing members to the meeting place were also made.

Call to Order—George Milne called the meeting to order at 7:20P.M. All members were present. Art Stangell and Joel Reitz also attended.
The minutes of the previous meeting were approved as distributed. (msc Cindy-Glen).

Vice Presidents Report- Bill Yandon presented a Tyee key request for Ron Silvis which was approved.

Treasurer's Report—Cindy Lee

Cash Balance	10-31-2014	$ 8,404.04
Beginning Balance	10-01-2014	$16,022.79
Deposits		1,698.85
Checks/withdrawals		9,317.60
Ending Balance	10-31-2014	$8,404.04

Cindy informed us that $10,000 had been transferred from the investment account to accommodate cash flow.

Publications Trustee's Report—Phil Jackson told us the print Blazer was again late in the mail due to delay at the mailer's

Trips Trustee Report—Jeff Lawton told us that the Wednesday AM Hikes and the New Year's hike to Nesika are the only events now scheduled. He recommended setting up the Alpine Outing in the Okanagan soon since we have a credit with the outfitter and it appears that Boiling Lake is still an attractive destination.
He also strongly recommended a planning meeting to develop a strategic plan for the club with an aim to attract a younger demographic.

Nesika Trustee—Glen Conrad reported on another brilliant Backpack Seminar with over 50 in attendance. There were presentations on 4 long distance trails and demonstrations of new backpacking gear. Glen thanked Karen and Roger Anderson, Cindy Lee, and Jeff Crinklaw who cooked. He thought that there would be 10 new members joining from the group. Glen reviewed the jobs done at Nesika over the summer. For 2015 work trips will be on the third weekend of each month. William Sullivan plans to be a worker at the first work trip of 2015.

Art Stangell said he needed current pictures of Nesika for our insurance agent. We discussed adding coverage for Nesika and decided to defer any decision and continue with our current coverage.

Tyee Trustee—Callista Snively announced the completion of the roof repairs with new snow deflectors. PGE has done some tree work on three sides of the lodge. The lodge is ready for winter with events scheduled for Thanksgiving and over the winter break. Tyee work trips will also be on the third weekend of each month.

Lee Davis, the executive director for the Mazamas, was introduced to talk about the parking expansion at their lodge. They plan to expand their winter parking and we would like some room in their expanded lot. It now looks as if the total cost for the expansion will be about $216,000 and we will probably want about 1/6th of the spaces. There will also be some continuing maintenance costs.
Social Tustee—Barbara Jones reported on the October hike and dine and the October A & E which had Richard Gaunt as the speaker. There will be two club Thanksgiving events, one at Barbara's place,and one at Tyee. She is still planning for the Annual Banquet.

Membership Trustee—Joan Miller read David L. Krichevsily for the first time. Katriona L. Butler and Victoria R. Butler (Tori) were elected to membership.

There was no old or new business.
Meeting adjourned at 8:45 AM.
Respectfully submitted, Merrill Hugo—Secretary

In recent years, the historic significance of the Trail Club of Oregon (TCO) origin has been rather obscure. Jeff Lawton, in his historic online research of The Oregonian, changed this when he discovered the best public accounting of our formation, an article on the front page of the October 10, 1915 morning edition. Combined with efforts of President Susan Saul, on advisement from Archivist Brian Johnson to release our records from the Oregon Historical Society, this historian has been able to reconstruct our past more fully.

Sherrard Point The U.S. Board of Geographic Names made "Sherrard Point" the official name for Larch Mountain's highpoint in 1946. From Oregon Geographic names (McArthur and McArthur, 2003): “Sherrard Point was named in honor of Thomas H. Sherrard, who was associated with the USFS for more than 40 years. It comprises the viewpoint on the northeastern extremity of the summit ridge of Larch Mountain and is marked with a bronze plaque. During his tenure with the USFS, Sherrard served as supervisor of the Mount Hood National Forest from 1907 to 1934 and took a keen interest in the development of recreation facilities as well as assisting in the establishment of the Bull Run water preserve. Sherrard was a TCO Charter member

Larch Mountain Lookout

Established in 1914 with a platform and cab atop two 90' fir trees, a 90' steel tower and a ground house replace it in 1923.

The same year the Trails Club finished building its first home in the Multnomah Basin above Oneonta Gorge. In the 1940s, a 100' treated timber L-4 tower was built with a tourist observation deck below the cab. The structure was removed in 1976.

Mr. Lancaster Elected President

Next on the program came the organization of a club which will have for its purpose the opening of other trails into scenic points through the state that are now practically inaccessible: the building of a comfortable house on the summit, with water and sanitary facilities, and the setting aside of Multnomah, Eagle Creek and Oneonta waterbeds as game preserves and stocking of the streams with fish. Samuel C. Lancaster was unanimously elected president in recognition of his deep interest and personal efforts for the opening of the trail and all present became charter members. A committee with J. P. Jaeger as its chairman was then appointed to draw up constitution and by-laws, with instructions to make an early report.

Dear Friends of the TCO History Center

Thank you for your valuable support these past several years in setting up a club history center to preserve club records and member stories. As a result of your interest and involvement (2,264 hours – running total from 1-23-13), the Trails Club of Oregon stories are coming alive and the wisdom from our past will be there to guide our future.

We have been blessed with a rich inheritance and with rights come the responsibility to adapt and to keep on trekking in a way that supports the collective group, not just individual members. Trails Club entitlement carries with it Hilton hospitality (literally, Frank E. Hilton is a TCO Charter Member) based on conscientious environmental values.

"All ethics…rest upon a single premise: that the individual is a member of a community of interdependent parts…The land ethic simply enlarges the boundaries of the community to include soils, waters, plants, and animals, or collectively: the land…A thing is right when it tends to preserve the integrity, stability, and beauty of the biotic community. It is wrong when it tends otherwise." – Aldo Leopold, a Sand County Almanac:

| Remember, one of the best ways to become familiar with your club is to volunteer, especially in the history office. We have developed an accession log; however to make it work, we need mega help with inventorying. As illustrated in this report, nearly 50 different people have contributed to setting up opportunities for more to happen. We hope you enjoy the virtual tour and encourage you to consider helping on some level to experience the camaraderie of working together to make our centennial memorable. Contact historian@trailsclub.org to schedule an onsite tour, to donate records, artifacts, tell stories, or offer help.Signed, the History Committee
